

PRESS RELEASE

WIKUS Finds Subsidiary in Mexico

WIKUS-Sägenfabrik Wilhelm H. Kullmann GmbH & Co. KG has established a sales and service company with assembling (VSA) for sawing tools in Mexico and South America and started operations in the first quarter of 2024.

Spangenberg, 08. February 2024: — WIKUS, Europe's largest band saw blade manufacturer, starts manufacturing and distributing its high-quality sawing tools and services for the Latin American market with its new subsidiary WIKUS SIERRAS CINTAS S. de R. L. De C.V. in Santiago de Querétaro, Mexico.

VSA in Mexico is an important strategic component in WIKUS' growth strategy

The new subsidiary was founded in November 2022.

At the beginning of 2024, the necessary machine equipment for cutting to length, welding, post-processing, and assembling band saw blades all the way to ready-to-ship products was installed. Now intensive training for the local production team will follow before production and delivery commence in February 2024.

“With the new subsidiary in Mexico, we are now able to serve our regional customers in Mexico and South America directly and provide them with even more tailored support. I look forward to continuing WIKUS' success in Mexico with my team,” says Rafael Romero, Managing Director of WIKUS SIERRAS CINTAS S. de R. L. De C.V..

The interlinking of technology, production, IT, customer order production, and service providers is essential for a successful start in Mexico. “Above all, the international transfer of knowledge has proven to be valuable. Our interdisciplinary, cross-divisional project team is supporting the processes from Germany as well as locally in Mexico, for example by installing machines and training the new employees. In this way, Rafael Romero's team can benefit from the experience of the parent company and the accustomed high quality of WIKUS,” says Matthias Mell, multi-project management and CE representative in process management at WIKUS.
